

Energy Audit

The concept of managing your energy instead of your time is important to understand as a leader because you can't grow time. Time is constant, but your available energy isn't.

What charges you up?

What drains your energy?

What is something only you can do?

What is something that you shouldn't be doing?